PLACER COUNTY RECYCLING MARKET DEVELOPMENT ZONE

ZONE INFORMATION

The Placer County Recycling Market Development Zone (RMDZ) is located on the northeast side of the state of California. The zone encompasses the unincorporated areas of Placer County, the incorporated cities of Auburn, Colfax, Lincoln, Rocklin, Roseville, and the Town of Loomis. The zone overlays all industrially-zoned land in Placer County. There are approximately 10 million square feet of industrial space in Placer County. Of this 10 million, 1.7 million is vacant and suited for secondary material business enterprises.

PROGRAM INFORMATION

California Recycling Market Development Zones are designated by the Integrated Waste Management Board. The Board offers low-interest loans up to $1 million, technical assistance on financing strategies, and assistance in marketing zones nationally and internationally. For more information on this program and other market development programs, contact the Board's Recycling Business Assistance Branch at (916) 255-1000.

TARGET MATERIALS

Materials identified to provide businesses with continuous feedstock include newsprint, wall-board, mixed paper, drywall, wood, and plastic

INFRASTRUCTURE

The zone has excellent access opportunities for rail, highway, and air transport. Direct access to Interstate 80 provides connections to points east over the Sierra to New York and west to the San Francisco area. Access to Southern California and Oregon is provided by Interstate 5. State Route 65 provides easy access through the zone. There are approximately 20 recycling/certified redemption centers. Five private recycling centers are also located in the western portion of the county. Placer County authorities are in the process of planning for the design, construction, and operation of a materials recovery facility.

INCENTIVES

The zone will offer an incentive package that will allow for the reduction or deferment of fees, applications, permits, construction taxes, and business licenses. Other financing programs will be made available to the businesses such as revolving loan funds, Community Development Block Grants; and commercial loan programs offered by co-applicant cities.
